

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0081] A system for maintaining a transaction cache consistency in a mobile communication network is provided. The system comprises: a mobile server for periodically broadcasting an invalidation report (IR) message; and a mobile client
5 for updating data stored in a transaction cache based upon information included in the IR message, and for confirming execution of a transaction.